Dearest Friends

This is going to be slightly different from our usual "picture - greetings", but it is also under rather different and unusual circumstances that our warmest thoughts go out to you this year.

We arrived in Manila in June, and, after spending a few weeks in this hotel, finally moved into our new house - just as we had, as long last made it look like a home, Typhoon Yolup, alias Patsy, decided to pay us a most unwelcome and devastating visit. We are now back where we started - in the hotel, house - bumping again, with our belongings scattered and kind - hearted friends - This is the result of our roof being blown away, we had much damage we are, however, not complaining, for there have been far more unfortunate people than ourselves and we are all three well, safe and sound, thanks God. Shafik had just returned from one of his trips abroad, Omar was at home having just returned from it, as we were all together - For all this we are extremely grateful.

Our thoughts, as always, go out to each and every one of you, wishing you a very, very happy, healthy and safe holiday season - We all three send our dearest and fondest wishes - As ever,

lovingly
