Dear Dr. Rizatewfiq,

I was indeed very glad to hear from you through Mr Rikabi, and also to have your photograph. The photograph has been shown round to everybody who knew you, and now it has gone home, so that my parents may see what you look like.

You have changed very considerably since we saw you: but we hold a very warm recollection of your visit, and we trust that fate is going to be kind to you in the future. We are all very well indeed, and everybody sends their warmest greetings.

With reference to the scholastic philosophy books you ask about: I gave Mr Rikabi the names of two French books which are really the best books on the subject: and I hope this would be what you would wish.

With kind regards,

Yours sincerely,
