Handwritten musical notation on a five-line staff. The notation consists of a series of connected, stylized, wavy lines, characteristic of early musical notation. Above the staff, there are several small, handwritten symbols or characters, possibly indicating pitch or rhythm. The notation is written in a dark ink on aged, slightly yellowed paper.

Handwritten musical notation on a five-line staff. The notes are written in a stylized, cursive script. Above the staff, there are several small, handwritten annotations in Persian script, likely indicating pitch or rhythm. The notation includes various note heads and stems, some with flags or beams.
